Stormy Scenes at Times

in the Hall-Proceedings of the Morning and Evening

Sessions.

CHICAGO, ILL., June 22 .- [Special.]-The Democratic Convention has settled down to business. Despite the advice of contractors and local managers who constructed the big dark barn called the Wigwam that no night session should be held the convention is in session under the glare of electric lights. The wast building is packed from floor to ceiling. Not only are all the seats occupied. but the sisles are jammed with perspiring humanity. If any fear of a collapse of the Wigwam has been caused by sensational reports of its weakness it has disappeared. The vast concourse of overtwenty thousand people sit in an apparent feeling of security.

ANTI-CLEVELAND CLAIMS. The anti-Cleveland managers claim that The anti-Cleveland managers claim that they have enough votes to prevent the nomination of the ex-President. However much they may be mistaken they are evidently sincere. Senator Brice, Congressman Catchings of Mississippi, Senator Ransom of North Carolina, Governor Tillman of South Carolina, Patterson of Colorado, Senator Pasco of Florida and a score or more of others equally preminent are co-operating with New York in planning to defeat Cleveland.

Governor Flower was interviewed by your correspondent at the Wigwam to-night. He Governor Flower was interviewed by your correspondent at the Wigwam to-night. He said frankly that the indications pointed to Cleveland's nomination. "But he has not got it yet," added the jolly, good-natured Governor of New York.

"We believe he will reach high-water mark on the first ballot. If we can beat him for two ballots we are sure to down him.

MISINFORMED ABOUT THIS.

"We feel sure he can't carry New York, and we are told that Cleveland would lose several Southern States. Virginia and West Virginia among them. The opposition vote will be scattering. Some will go to Gorman, some to Hill, some to Boies and may be Cambeil and Pattison will get some."

"But we will come together if we can get rid of Cleveland. For myself I think a good deal of Governor Boies. I believe he could get all the Democratic votes and that would be enough. Oh. as to Cleveland, I don't believe he could carry New York, but I believe any other Democrat could."

Governor Flower praised Senator Hill and spoke highly of Senator Gray, of Delaware, saying that although he comes from a small State he is a big man and would make a popu-

State he is a big man and would make a popular and successful candidate for President. Your correspondent suggested to Flower that he might be called upon to head the ticket. "Ne. no." he replied. "I am not in it and don't want it; all I want is to get a man who

VIRGINIA AND THE CAROLINAS.

After the Nomination it is Believed That All Will Work for the Party.

CHICAGO, ILL., June 22. -[Special.] - Colone Abe Fulkerson, one of the Cleveland delegates from the Ninth Virginia district, has tackled several of the South Carolina delegation on their opposition to the nomination of Cleveland. He has good-naturedly pointed out to the delegates from the Palmetto State all the horrors in store for the people of that and all other Southern States in the event of the re-election of Harrison. The South Caro-linians insist that they cannot carry their State for the man of destiny.

ALL WILL FALL IN LINE. This is ante-nomination talk. When the commation is made all of the Southerner here believe that all of those States will fal into line all right. Bourke Cockran and other Tammany leaders have endeavored to impress upon the Southern delegates the importance of supporting a man who will certainly carry New York. If they fail to do this, Mr. Cockran tells them they imperil the suc-cess of the Democratic ticket and are likely to have a Republican President and a taste of the horrors of the Force bill.

This talk, however, has never made a con-vert. The Southerners understand that the brilliant Tammany orator only desires to use them to compass Cleveland's defeat.

VAIN HOPE OF THE ANTIB.

The opponents of Cleveland plucked up some little courage during the late hours last night, with the faint promise of compromising on Boles of lowa. It is true that this name gave little hope of success, still what there was in it was sufficient to buoy up the depressed spirits of the antis in the Virginia and North and South Carolina delegations. Just before the opening of the convention I met Senator Ransom, of North Carolina, hurring to his room at the Palmer House. The

Senator is one of the leaders of the opposi-

WHAT SENATOR BANSOM SAYS.

The situation to-day, he said, is just a shade better for the opposition than it was at the same hour yesterday. What General Ransom referred to was the statement that the New York delegation would throw their votes to Boics provided they would receive assistance from the South and elsewhere. The Senator insisted that the opposition could control one-third of the delegates, but in the same breath admitted that they could not see their way to throw their votes to any one who had a delegation behind his back. The Virginians and the delegates from the two Carolinas stand about as they did yesterday and as they have stood ever since their arrival here. WHAT SENATOR BANSOM SAYS.

when the Virginians marched into the hall this morning all the delegation was present except Mr. John F. Ryan, of Loudoun. He was detained and did not come in until after the great gathering had been called to order. TREMENDOUS DEMONSTRATION.

TREMENDOUS DEMONSTRATION.

The like of the pandemonium created in the convention to-night by the reference to Cleveland's name in the platform was never before seen by the Virginians present. The Cleveland members from the State delegation were wiid with delight. The boys threw up their hats and hands and yelled themselves hoarse. Even staid and dignified John Goode, the calmest man of the party, could not contain himself, but like the younger members, joined in the wild hurrahs. The gigantic demonstration of joy exceeded even the wildest expectations of the Hill delegates. These, like the Tammany and other New York delegates have nothing to say. The cyclone of joyousness that swept over the vast assemblage of 20.000 people struck these opponents of the ex-President dumb. DANIEL DID NOT JOIN IN.

Senator Daniel and Basil Gordon, the Virginia member of the national committee, occupied seats on the platform. The former probably did not care to join in the wild huzzahs and the latter had to show his demonstrations away from his other colleagues. Tanmany and some of the other Hill men, however, got in their work when the other member of the platform committee reported the amendment to the tariff plank. The denunciation of the McKinley tariff as a fraud caught the New Yorkers. They cheered it wildly and were joined by some of the Virginians. Mayor Ellyson, who attended to night's session of the convention, told me that the Cleveland demonstration exceeded anythying he had ever witnessed or ever expected to see again. The opposition of Patter. pected to see again. The opposition of Patterson, of Nevada, to the free silver plank of the platform and the amendment offered by him thereto, was another point in the night's proceedings which pleased Tammany and the Southern Hill men.

THE COINAGE QUESTION.

Dr. Winston of Hanover county, seemed particularly gratified at Patterson's position on the coinage question. The convention, although on a far grander scale, did not in some respects differ from some of our old Virginia political gatherings. The weather was intensely hot, and, although there were thousands of ladies present, the men did not hesitate to remove their coats and sit in their shirt sleeves.

I did not notice, however, that any of the Southerners resorted to this way of keeping cool. Lieutenant-Governor Sheehan, of New York, announced late last night that J. D. Beliamy, delegate-at-large from North Carolina, had deserted the Cleveland banner. This was the result of the earnest efforts made by the New Yorkers and others.

by the New Yorkers and others.

MRS. DR. MARY WALKER AGAIN.

Mrs. Dr. Mary Walker, who was confined in Castle Thunder at Richmond during the war, is here making herself conspicuous as usual. She seems to be employed as a missionary by the opposition, or possibly by the Republicans. She has appeared at the headquarters of various delegations and made speeches against Cleveland. To-day she visited the Illinois delegation and, it is said, tackled Senator Palmer. E. B. C. tackled Senator Palmer.

CHARGES AGAINST GORMAN.

The New York Delegates Claim That He Broke Faith With Thein.

CHICAGO, June 28 .- The New York delegation was clinging this morning to a last desperate hope of defeating the nomination of Grover Cleveland. They were seeking to unite the opposition to him to some new candidate, and the name most frequently heard in connection with the possibility of a new combination was that of General Henry W. Slocum, of New York. Gorman the New Yorkers would have nothing to do with.

The New York delegates are very indignant with the Maryland Senator, whom they charge with having broken their combination against Cleveland two days ago after encouragainst Cleveland two days ago after encouraging them to believe that he would stand by them. They talked freely about Mr. Gorman, and told some of the inside history of the Gorman movement of Sunday and its relation to the Hill movement. Mr. Gorman and Mr. Brice, they say, encouraged the Hill leaders in New York State to call the midwinter convention, Mr. Gorman promised that the Maryland Convention should be held soon after the convention at Albany. It was that the Maryland Convention should be held soon after the convention at Albany. It was a part of the policy of the anti-Cleveland people to weaken the strength of Cleveland through the country by having his State instruct for Hill, and by following this with an anti-Cleveland convention in Maryland, which has always been a Cleveland strong-bold.

CHARGES AGAINST GORMAN.

Mr. Gorman, the Hill men say, broke faith in this and did not have the Maryland Con-vention called until almost every other con-vention in the country had been held. Two weeks ago Mr. Gorman met Senator Hill, Mr. Murphy and Mr. Sheehan in New York. This meeting was chronicled in the papers, but no statement was made public of what had been done. The Hill men say that the meeting was held at the instance of Mr. Gorman to consider the opposition to Cleveland. Mr. Gorman urged Mr. Hill and his friends to make the fight against Cleveland at Chicago and promised them his support. He intended at that time to remain in the East, but Mr. Hill urged him to go to Chicago and he finally consented to do so. Arriving here, he continued to confer with the Hill people and at one of these conferences held last Sunday he authorized them to use his name in the effort to form a combination against Cleveland. of this, they say, they have now discovered was for the purpose of furthering the selfish ambition of Mr. Gorman. When they laid before Mr. Gorman the results of their canvass showing that with his name they could prevent the nomination of Mr. Cleve-land on the first ballot they did not show enough strength to insure to Mr. Gorman the nomination and he there-upon repudiated the whole arrangement and went into the Cleveland camp.

WHAT GORMAN'S FRIENDS SAY.

Mr. Gorman's side of the question has not been stated in full, but his friends in the Maryland delegation have given out since the canvass of Monday the statement that he refused to permit his name to be used, and that his refusal was because he believed that it was to be put up only for the purpose of bestiers Mr. Claysland. peating Mr. Cleveland.

beating Mr. Cleveland.

The policy of the anti-Cleveland leaders, it was announced, would be a policy of delay.

They succeeded last night in getting from the aub-committee of the committee on rules a report against the unit rule. The announcement of this fact created a sensation at a last bour last right. When announcement of this fact created a sensation at a late hour last night. When it came out it filled Cleveland men with surprise and apprehension. They realized later, though, that the rules of the convention are made by a simple majority and not a two-thirds majority of the convention, and that whether the full committee sustained the action of the sub-committee or not the report would be beaten in the convention.

Attorney-General Hensel, of Pennsylvania, said after the meeting: "They caught us napping in the sub-committee and the matter men to break it by offering a combination of Sloeum and Morrison has not met with sufficient favor to warrent the belief that the action of the delegation will be rescinded before the first ballot is taken.

Not only are the Illinois men restive about the unit rule, but they are displeased with the combination believed to have been made by the Cleveland snappers for Vice-President. Illinois has two favorite sons who are candidates for the vice-presidency. One of them is a very dark horse—Hon, Lambert Tree. The other, Hon, A. E. Stevenson, has been exploited for some time as a good man for the second place on the ticket in case the presidency went to the East.

A FIGHT OVER THE VICE-PRESIDENCY.

A FIGHT OVER THE VICE-PRESIDENCY.

The friends of Mr. Cleveland were fearful of the trouble that other delegations would make if they thought that the support of Indiana was gained through a trade, and they have denied constantly that there is any agreement for the nomination of Mr. Gray. It seems possible that if they have made a trade they will not be able to deliver the goods even if Mr. Cleveland is nominated. There will be several candidates for the second place, and if Mr. Cleveland is nominated on the first ballot, as his friends still profess to believe that he will be, there will be still a fight over the vice-presidency, which will make the convention lively. Michigan will put up Judge Morse, Illinois Mr. Stevenson, and California Congressman Geary. Horaes Boies, of Iowa, is a strong possibility, although his supporters now refuse to consider his availability for any but first place on the ticket. A FIGHT OVER THE VICE-PRESIDENCY. on the ticket.

MR. GORMAN UNWELL. MR. GORMAN UNWELL.

Senator Gorman, of Maryland, as the result of yesterday's storm, was assailed last night by his old enemy neuralgia, and was confined to his room. His indisposition gave rise to many rumors, some of them quite sensational. To a reporter for the United Press, who called on him this morning, the Senator said he was much better and under the influence of the bright, cheering weather which prevails loday would soon be entirely recovered.

A SMALL TELEGRAM. Chairman Ed. Murphy confirmed this morning the statement that the test vote would be made on the question of adopting the unit rule in the convention.

Mr. Croker received this morning a telegram which he exhibited to visitors to the New York headquarters. It was from W. W. Kirby. of Indiana, and it said that thousands of people in Indiana would refuse to vote for Mr. Cloveland because "of his "brutal and inhuman treatment" of the Hendricks family after the death of the Vice-President.

THE OPPOSITION TO CLEVELAND Secretary Beardsley, of the State commit-tee, said this morning that the test ballot would show that at least 320 of the delegates

THE MORNING SESSION.

The Permanent Organization Effected. Chairman Wilson's Address.

CHICAGO, June 22 .- The crowd along Michigan avenue began to assume large proportions even before the clumsy doors of the convention hall were thrown open, and at 10 o'clock there were thousands congregated in the roadway and along the sidewalks, and the roadway and along the sidewalks, and when the convention hour approached the seats in the big barn began to fill rapidly.

At 11:17 the New York delegation, followed by "Boss" Croker and Governor Flower and Chairman Murphy, hand in hand, closely by the rest of the New York delegation, made their way to their seats accompanied by cheers. Cleveland's manager (Whitney) came in soon afterwards and joined the anti-snappers amid appliause.

in soon afterwards and joined the anti-snappers amid applause.

In the long wait the band was the only source of relief for the impatient galleries, and they played over again all the tunes that captured approval yesterday.

Precisely at 11:30 Temporary Chairman Owens rapped the convention to order and called upon the Rev. Alfred Henry, of the Methodist Episcopal church, of Chicago, to offer prayer. He asked that the convention be guided to choose a representative of modern, progressive Democracy and prayed that the party might proceed to victory not for the spoils of office. Just as the prayer concluded the lowa phalanx entered the hall, the big, blue banner with the picture of Horace Botes borne in front of them. There were cheers from all parts of the hall

No attempt had been made at the concentration of the opposition, he said; that subject would be taken up when they had assured the Demo-cratic party against the calamity of the nomi-pation of Cleveland.

MR, CLEVELAND INFORMED.

Whitney Furnishes Him With a Synopsis of the Platform.

CHICAGO, June 22 .- Among the reasons assigned for delay in presenting the platform is that Mr. Cleveland sent word by wire to Mr. Whitney that his name must not be presented to the convention until he had seen a synopsis of the platform upon which his candidacy was to rest. Mr. Whitney, when asked if this was true, said that in a measure it was. Mr.
Cleveland had asked him to keep him informed upon the principal planks and he had done so

It is believed that the anti-Cleveland peo ple will make their fight to-night on the silver plank in the platform, and Mr. Whitney said he so understood it. Mr. Sheehan, of the anti-Cleveland forces, said: "We are not out of it by any means, and we shall be heard from to-night. I do not say that the fight will be on the platform, but we shall probably show our strength in some way."

COMMITTEES ON RULES AND CREDENTIALS. It was 2 o'clock this morning when the committee on credentials adjourned. said it was necessary that the committee should report. Finally the minority report in favor of the unit rule was adopted—22 to 12.

When the music ceased the temporary chair-man brought his gavel down and announced that the first business of the convention would that the first business of the convention would be the report of the committee on credentials. He asked if the committee was ready to report. Before any one could reply Mr. Winston, of Minn., got the floor and in a brief speech moved that the courtesies of the platform be extended to ex. Senators James R. Doolittle and Lyman Trumbuil. The Chair declared the motion carried without putting it. The chairman again asked if the committee on credentials was ready to report.

Mr. Shaw, of Maryland, from the extreme rear of the hall, replied that they were not.

The chairman inquired what was the next leasure of the convention, the committees

CRIES OF "MILLS."

The Chair again asked the convention its pleasure. Just then some one in the galleries caught sight of Senator Mills, of Texas, and started a cry for him which was taken up on the floor and soon spread until the delegates were all on chairs and in the aisles crying the distinguished Texan's name. Tom Johnson, of Ohio, got on a chair and caught the chairman's eye. He was recognized to move that the Hon. Roger Q. Mills be invited to address the convention. The motion was carried with enthusiasm, and Mr. Johnson and Mr. Goodman, of Missouri, were appointed a committee to escort the Senator to the platform. The committee was slow in finding Mr. Mills, who had fled from the hall. During the intermission an Alabama delegate got the floor to offer a resolution, which was referred. Then there were cries for Carlisle and then for Palmer and Mr. DeYoung, of Michigan, got on his chair and moved that Mr. Palmer be invited to address the convention. The motion was carried and Mr. DeYoung and Mr. Jackson, of lowa, were appointed a committee of escort. This committee was more successful than the other, and Mr. Palmer was brought before the convention in a few minutes. He was received with great applause. The Senator, after appealing for harmony in part, said: harmony in part, said:

MR. PALMER'S ADMONITION

MR. PALMER'S ADMONITION

The great work of restoring constitutional liberty devolves upon the Democratic party. They should not let personal interest divide them. There should be no shuikers in the camp. The men presented to them were all patriotic men. They could not easily make a mistake. They must get a firm, unswerving Democrat and put the flag in his hand.

At this point the galleries started the cry of Hill and there were mingled cheers for a minute. The convention quieted down, presently. Continuing. Mr. Palmer said that as sure as the Republican party was triumphant there would be a force bill such as the ingenuity of John Davenport and the devil might suggest. The Republicans at Minnespolishad declared themselves for more McKinleyism. The country was to be fettered. The farmers must toil for the trusts and the monopolies. The Democratic party must have no juggling of words in its platform.

"What about silver?" said some one in the gallery, but Mr. Palmer ignored the question.

Mr. Palmer said he wanted to see Illinois

Mr. Palmer said he wanted to see Illinois this year a fire of patriotism. Blow the trumpet and Illinois would rally to the banner. He expected Illinois to elect its State ticket and its electoral ticket as well We don't expect to burn Chicago up, said Mr Palmer, but we'll make it amazingly red.

Cimps.

As the applause which greeted the close of Veteran Palmer's speech died away, there were cries of "Fellows," and Mr. Fellows, standing on his chair and speaking with his characteristic clearness of tone, said: "I am a delegate to this convention, and at the proper time when it shall be appropriate for delegates to express their opinions, I may ask the opportunity to say something to the convention. I am a Democrat, and as I recognize that there are a great number of distinguished gentlemen on this floor whose names are well known to the Democracy not wearing the badge of a delegate, it would be manifestly improper for one occupying that position now to claim your attention."

Mr. Fellows then resumed his seat and was loudly cheered. The chairman announced that the committee on credentials was ready to report, and Mr. Lamb, of Indiana, took the platform and in a clear, loud voice read the report. Announcing the decision to give Arizona and New Mexico six delegates each, Mr. Lamb said that this decision was reached because these territories had been debarred from the sisterhood of States on the sole ground that they were Democratic, and further from the fact that a Democratic House had already passed an enabling act for these territories.

PERMANENT ORGANIZATION.

The chairman then announced that the committee on permanent organization was ready to report. The report was presented by Mr. Fordyce, of Arkansas, and read by one of the clerks. It named W. L. Wilson, of West Virginia, for permanent chairman and continued the other officers of the temporary organization. The announcement of Mr. Wilson's name was met with loud applause. The report was adopted without dissent. Then the band struck up a pot pourri of popular and national airs. When the music ceased Mr. Dickinson, of Michigan, moved that a committee of five be appointed to notify Mr. Wilson of his appointment as permanent chairman. The chairman then announced that the

The chairman appointed as the committee Don M. Dickinson of Michigan, J. F. Duncombe of lows, John R. Fellows of New York, Joseph C. Richardson of Alabama and M. E. Clardy of Missouri. While the committee was performing its mission the band atruck up "The Star Spangled Banner," which was applauded. The committee was nearly five minutes getting together, and the band was playing "Ta-ra-ra-Boom-de-re" when, the escort committee and the permanent chairman walked up the south aisle and crossed the convention hall to the platform.

Temporary Chairman Owens shook hands The chairman appointed as the committee walked up the south aisle and crossed the convention hall to the platform.

Temporary Chairman Owens shook hands with Mr. Wilson and then stepped to the front of the platform and said: "Gentlemen of the Convention—It gives me pleasure to introduce to you one of the bravest Democrats in America. Mr. William L. Wilson, of West Virginia."

As Mr. Wilson came forward he was greeted with a storm of applause.

Evidently Mr. Wilson knew the temper and the disposition of his audience. The keynote of tariff reform, which he struck in almost he first sentence, was in harmony with their feelings, and they greeted everything that he said with the greatest enthusiasm. When Mr. Wilson said. "I must not keep you from the work," there were cries of "Go on, go on." Mr. Wilson did go on, but not much farther. When he concluded his speech, the delegates, rising to their feet, waved their hats as they cheered again and again.

Martin L. Clardy, of Missouri, was recognized to present a resolution thanking the temporary chairman. It was adopted.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON RULES.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON BULES. Mr. English, of Indiana, chairman of the committee on rules and order of business, then took the platform and read the committee's report as follows:

As chairman of the committee on rules and order of business I have been instructed by a majority of the committee to submit the following report.

lowing report: We recommend that the following order of business be observed in this convention:

1. Report of committee on credentials.

2. Report of the committee on organization.

Report of the committee on resolutions

3. Report of the committee on resolutions and platform.

4. Report of the committee on nomination of President of the United States.

5. Report of the committee on nomination of Vice-President of the United States.

Your committee further recommend that the rules of the last National Democratic Convention shall be adopted for the government of the convention.

of the convention.

To the surprise of the convention no mi nority report was presented, and on motion the majority report presented by Mr. English was adopted without objection.

The chairman asked if the committee or resolutions was ready to report. There was no reply, and in the interval that followed the band struck up a lively air.

PRESENTED WITH A ZINC GAVEL. At the conclusion of this performance Mr At the conclusion of this performance Mr. Phelps, of Missouri, was recognized to present a zinc gavel. He said: "Mr. Chairman,—In behalf of the zinc producers and miners of Missouri I present to you this gavel. not made of tin or stolen from a Nebraska homestead, but mined and made in Jasper county, Mo., and bearing the inscription. We need no protection, as a protest against the mockery of legislation which imposes a useless tariff of 30 per cent. upon the metal as a protext for taxing the lamp, pick, shirt and pretext for taxing the lamp, pick, shirt and blanket of the miner more than 40 per cent. The miner is ready to do his part in giving the electoral vote of Missouri to the nominee of this convention by 40,000 majority."

The chairman, accepting the gavel, repeated in substance the remarks of Mr. Phelis which In substance the remarks of Mr. Phelps which had been almost inaudible to the convention. The chairman of the committee on resolutions not being in sight the chairman ordered the clerk to ask the delegation to send to the desk the names of members of the national committee and of the committee of notification.

There was a long interval while the names were being sent up. After this cries were made for Carlisle of Kentucky, and Mr. Clardy of Missouri, but neither responded.

GOVERNOR CAMPBELL SPHAKS.

Ex-Governor Campbell was invited to ad-

Ex-Governor Campbell was invited to address the convention, and amid cheers, the band playing "The Campbells are Coming," Mr. Campbell was escorted to the platform. The chairman, introducing him, said that the camel was the favorite Democratic animal.

Governor Campbell commenced in an ordinary tone of voice. There were cries of "Louder," to which he replied, "I would be glad to talk louder, but there are too many Democrats here for any one man to talk to. I am afraid that this audience, having no other amusement, wishes, as the chairman insinuates, to trot out all the Democratic menagerie. [Laughter.]

Mr. Davis, of Ohio, moved the appointment of a committee of two to wait on the committee on resolutions and ask when they would be able to report.

The motion was adopted, and Mr. Davis and Mr. Hensel were made the visiting committee.

Mr. Ooks, of Tennessee, moved that exmittee.

Mr. Ochs. of Tennessee, moved that exGovernor Bob Taylor, of Tennessee, be asked to address the convention.

The chairman announced that Governor
Taylor, who was on the platform, was not well enough to speak.

A RECESS TAKEN.

Then Mr. Henry. of Mississippi, moved that Henry Watterson be asked to address the convention, but Mr. Watterson was coy and the galleries divided on gries for Taylor and other favorites until the chairman again started the band.

In the tedious interlude delegates blocked up the passage-way and were requested to resume their seats.

Mr. Williams, of Massachusetts, moved that Hon. Bourke Cockran, of New York, be invited to address the convention. Mr. Cockran, declining the invitation to take the platform, said he expected to have business to lay before the convention a little later on. In the meantime he suggested that delegates occupy the time by taking in substantial refreshments. The intellectual refreshment they had received from their chairman could not be excelled by any oratory they would hear.

Don M. Dickinson, sitting just across the aisle from Mr. Fellows, moved that the convention take a recess to 5 o'clock. There were cries of "Ne" from the galleries, and

The band finding "Dixie" so popular in the morning tried that air over again several times in a medicy of other tunes, and each time drew out answering yells.

New York's entrance was greeted with cheers.

Horace Boies' band came in accompained by its followers, all waving their hats and all the Tammany men joining in with shouts, cat calls and cheers. All the other anti-Cleveland men joined in, thus seeming to indicate that the present purpose of the opposition is to combine on the successful lows Governer. One enthusiastic Cleveland man attempted to create a counter demonstration by waving a Cleveland picture, but without effect. After the Boies men had settled down somebody in the gallery shouted: "Hurrah for Cleveland," which started cheeting.

Chairman Wilson took his seat at 5:15, but simply for the purpose of enabling Secretary Beil to announce telegrams for delegates which he did in characteristic fashion. Two minutes after Chairman Wilson took his seat, the new zine gavel rapped to order. Order was slow in coming and so was business. It was fully twenty minutes before the convention was called upon to listen to anything else except the band.

An innovation in the usual course of proceedings was made by the chairman calling upon another reverend, gentleman for a second prayer in the same day's proceedings. The gentleman selected for this service was Rev. Thomas G. Green, of Cedar Rapids. Ia. He prayed that the convention might choose a man "of clean hands, pure heart, one who is above all selfish ambition, one whose aim will be his country and his God."

The Icwa people in the galleries applauded the "Amen."

The lows people in the galleries applianced the "Amen."

Then the band struck up "My Country. Then the band struck up "My Country. Then the band struck up appliance, which was renewed when the playing ceased. Then there was a pause which was broken by some one in the galleries proposing three cheers for Cleveland, which were given.

Then the band played, and the delegates sat perspiring, fanning themselves and waiting for the platform.

MOTION TO ADJOURN LOST.

In the middle of the turmoil and confusion a delegate moved to adjourn to 11 o'clock tomorrow. There were cries of "No." and when the question was put and a decisive negative, cheers went up from the New York delegates, who rose to their feet and cheered, waving their fans. A Kansas delegate got the floor to present a resolution. Mr. Powers, of Michigan, was standing on a chair supported by Don M. Dickinson, densanding recognition. He got it in a minute, and announced that the committee on resolutions would be ready to report in fifteen minutes. This was at 6 o'clock. The announcement was greeted with applause, and the band played "When Johny Comes Marching Home." The crowd in the packed galleries sat sweltering through the intermission, many of the men being without coats. The delegates looked a picture of discomfort as they mopped and fauned.

The Platform Read.

THE PLATFORM READ.

At 6:25 the chairman announced to the impatient convention that the platform was ready and would be presented by Mr. Jones. the chairman of the committee.

Mr. Jones, from the platform: I am instructed by the committee on resolutions to present to you as the report of the committee the following resolutions, and to ask their adoption, and as soon as they are read I shall move the previous question upon the adop-adoption, and as soon as they are read I shall move the previous question upon the adoption of the platform.

This announcement was received with loud cries of "No" from the left of the chair, where the delegates from the silver States were grouped.

Mr. Neal, of Ohio, jumped on the platform and said with warmth: "In view of that statement I, expressing the minority of the committee on resolutions, desire to announce that the minority desire to be heard [cheers] and to present its report before the previous question shall be put."

Mr. Jones closed by asking Mr. Vilas, of Wisconsin, to read the platform.

Mr. Vilas began to read in his magnificent, sonorous voice and most impressive style.

A SIGNAL FOR TREMENDOUS CHEERS

The first mention of Cleveland's name in the convention was when Mr. Vilas, in the first para Taph in the platform, read "from Madison to Cleveland." It called out the pent enthusiasm of the delegates. The Syracuse men led the cheering as the Cleveland delegates and the Cleveland men in the galleries sprang to their feet, waving bats, handkerchiefs and fans. The noise grew and grew until a Michigan delegate rushed into the hall, holding aloft the white and gold banner of his State with a picture of Cleveland pinned across its face.

Don M. Dickinson climbed on a chair and all the Michiganders followed him, while delegates and spectators shricked and yelled. Then down the aisle came Iowa's bannerbearer, holding aloft the picture of Boies. The cheering was renewed. It rose and fell in quivering, ear-splitting yells. Don Dickinson got down from his chair and took the Michigan banner in his hands. Climbing back on his chair, he raised it aloft, and the cheering swelled again.

Michigan railled around the banner. Two or three delegates took it from Dickinson's hands and swung it defiantly in the face of New York's seventy-two.

As it passed one delegation after another led the storms in cheers in its honor. It was twenty minutes after the shouting began before Mr. Vilas could bring his big voice to bear on the convention again.

THE SILVER PLANE.

When the silver plank was reached there was a stronger outbreak of approval than at any point of the platform. The familiar phrase, "Public office is a public trust," which followed was promptly recognized and brought out another, but very brief, Cleveland demonstration.

The civil service plank called out more hisses than cheers. The galleries applauded the condemnation of the Republican office holders' convention, Not counting interruption the platform occupied thirty-five minutes in the reading.

Mr. Jones, at the close of the reading, said: "On behalf of the committee on resolutions I move the adoption of the platform as read."

This was not by ories of "No."

Mr. Neal, of Ohio, took the stand and said: "As a representative from the State of Ohio, appointed on the committee on resolutions. I gave notice of my intention to present to this convention an amendment to the section of the platform relative to the tariff. I have been unable to conscientiously agree with the majority of my fallow members upon that section of this platform. I therefore give notice to the committee that I would move in open convention to strike out all that saction of the platform after the words denouncing the McKinley act and to substitute the following:

"We denounce Republican protection as a fraud [cheers], a robbery of the great majority of the American people for the benefit of the few. [Loud cheers.] We declare it to be the fundamental principle of the Democratic party that the Federal Government has a constitutional power to enforce and collections of the principle. eratic party that the Federal Government occursitational power to enforce and tariff duties except for the purpose of only irenewed and long-continued chand demand that the collection of such shall be limited to the necessities of the ernment and honestly and economical ministered."
